The most anticipated single of the year from "the most talked about new band in Britain" (NME), Sheffield's Arctic Monkeys finally touches down.

- A genuine musical phenomenon is happening out there. Before Arctic Monkeys have managed to release a single proper (a strictly limited single was released 6 months ago on the band's own label,) headline shows have been selling out like hot cakes across the UK with a passion and fervour from fans that feels unprecedented for a band at this stage.
- Taking cues from classic guitar bands such as The Smiths and The Jam and a buzz similar to early Oasis, Arctic Monkeys have forged a unique sound which will live as long as the bands they so admire.
- The band's own website and message board has proved the natural forum for the increasing legion of fans with the swapping of demo's and stories of life changing nights at the band's gigs.
- Recently the media has had to stand up and take note, NME have now run various full page features and news stories with undoubtedly more to come. Radio 1 plays came by the dozen and sessions were played. Stealing the show at Reading and Leeds festivals has probably been the highlight of the band's life so far.
- The band embark on their third and biggest UK tour yet in October. They are heading into Europ
